

Transition Medicine Hat

Promoting sustainable living in Southeastern Alberta
through community, demonstration and instruction.

This new group encourages a gradual shift to a local economy that is less dependent on fossil fuels.

Our community will become more sustainable and at the same time, more resilient to changes.

What is "Sustainability"?

We believe that living lightly on our landscape will be rewarding and enjoyable. To do this, we look for products and services that are produced as locally as is practical, that use renewable raw materials, and are created by locally-owned companies.

Other communities have found that experiences, not things, provide the most satisfying benefits. Consider the enjoyment that music and the arts, socializing with others, and relaxing in natural areas bring. We want you to join the transition to a more fulfilling community.

Education Programs

Public programs will introduce new concepts and help participants develop new skills.

A monthly digital newsletter will keep everyone informed of upcoming events. Let us know if you want your name added. Please feel free to circulate your copy to your friends.

Be sure to check our website. We will profile groups and companies that are adding to the sustainability of Southeastern Alberta.

If we have missed a "green" service, please send us a note.

Supporting our native pollinators will also bring better crops for our farmers.

To start with, we will focus on the local production of food. Recent disruptions have demonstrated the fragility of our food supply chain. Many people have a renewed interest in home gardens. Call us if you need advice! We also want to help promote the many small businesses that are growing food locally.

Transition Medicine Hat draws together a growing group of residents that make conscious efforts to reduce their ecological footprint. Many take pride in the new skills they have learned. We are enjoying new friends, experiencing new foods and stretching our minds with new ideas.

Grass-fed beef brings value to our native grasslands, helping conserve many species at risk.

Neighbours take pride in their attractive landscaping, and receive recognition for their efforts.

WE HOPE YOU WILL JOIN IN THE
